

Take the Intellex Cold Chain Challenge

*In-transit Temperature Monitoring
Without Opening the Box*

Conventional Solutions

Intellex

Intellex provides couriers and manufacturers with the ability to access temperature and condition data in-transit without opening or unpacking the container. This actionable data enables you to identify excursions before they become a problem— and helps to ensure that the product is safe and effective for use with documented quality of delivery.

Take the Intellex Challenge

Intellex will ship three Cold Chain Technology™ containers, each with an Intellex temperature monitoring tag, to a destination of your choice – monitoring the temperature inside the container from dock to delivery. We will then provide an Intellex reader to access the data from inside the package before it is opened, providing you with the temperature data for documented proof of quality.
